Anyhow it isn't dusty.

By the way, isn't Cowherd a daisy?

The silence at the White House is ominous. Something is developing.

The Cole County Democrat has finally come out for Cowherd. That is refreshing.

If any fault can be found with Mr. Cowherd and his record it has not as yet been pointed out.

Mr. Taft attended the Veiled Prophet's ball at St. Louis. That fixed him with the hard-shells.

The next three weeks should prove almost as interesting as those chronicled by the esteemed Mrs. Glyn.

If the people really ruled they would make some change in the train service on the Lexington branch.

The son of Admiral Evans seems to be making almost as great a reputation fighting booze as the Admiral did fighting fleets.

William H. Taft was "swept 100 feet" by a mob in St. Louis Tuesday. That was nothing compared to the sweeping he is going to get November 3.

A lot of independent voters who ought to know better are going to cast their ballots for the Republican presidential electors, Folk and Hadley.

Just because this issue contains a fair account of Governor Folk's speech here, don't fear that the INTELLIGENCER has flopped or become apathetic or lost its nerve. It still thinks William Joel Stone ought to be sent back to the Senate and believes that the majority of Democratic voters in the state are of the same opinion.

Attention is called to the advertisements of stock sales in this issue. This is a great year for stock in Missouri and the sales should be unusually large.

Bulgaria has declared its independence of Turkey. Judging from this fact we are led to believe that Bulgaria has been subject to the Sultan.

Col. Watterson claims New York by 100,000. That may have a tendency toward the optimistic; but nevertheless Marse Henry has some reason for his prediction.

Although Mr. Hadley has plenty of time to make political speeches and dictate campaign literature he still turns up missing when he is called upon to perform any official duties.

"Pallace Comes in a Bath of Light," screams a headline in the Kansas City Journal. If that was the case and she was dressed for it, the effect must have been "gorgeous," as the sub-head stated.

The editor of the Rockville Booster is chasty over the fact that since his paper started, eight weeks ago, he has not received a single kick. It's a cinch that a whole lot of talking goes on in Rockville when the editor is not listening.

The festively inclined countryman this week could take his choice among the Veiled Prophet's ceremonies in St. Louis, the doings of the Priests of Pallas in Kansas City and the State Fair at Sedalia.

A FEW COLONELS.

In reading the catalog (catalogue if you prefer) of Axline's hog sale one cannot help noticing the imposing array of auctioneers. It reads:

- Col. J. W. Sparks, Marshall, Mo.
Col. F. J. Zaun, Independence, Mo.
Col. J. Z. Wells, Kansas City, Mo.
Col. W. D. Ross, Otterville, Mo.
Col. Jno. D. Snyder, Winfield, Kansas.
Col. J. M. Pollum, North Topeka, Kansas.

Is it a coincidence that the six gentlemen selected to wield the hammer happened to have the same rank? Or did Mr. Axline select his officials with regard to their titles? At any rate the result is euphonious and the eloquent selling experts undoubtedly carry these designations with grace and dignity.

A PERFECT EAR OF CORN

To be Put in the Cornerstone of the New Agricultural Building.

Is there a perfect ear of corn in this county? If so, and the owner will send it to the Agricultural College at Columbia, it will be hermetically sealed in a glass case and put in the copper box that is to be deposited in the cornerstone of the $100,000 Agricultural Building now being erected on the University campus. The name and address of the grower and any other information that can be furnished in regard to how it was grown, together with a score of this ear by an expert corn judge, will be deposited with the ear, so that 200 or more years hence, when this structure may be torn down the people then living will have an opportunity to see what we at this time conceived to be a perfect ear of corn, and will know who grew it.

The cornerstone will be laid the latter part of October, and anyone having an ear of corn on hand or finding one in the meantime that shows extra quality should send it carefully wrapped in paper, by mail or express, to Dean H. J. Waters, Missouri Agriculture College, Columbia, with a number marked on the outside of the package and with the name of the owner in a sealed envelope on the inside and a number corresponding to that on the outside of the package by October 17th. A wholly disinterested committee, consisting of one member of the faculty of the College of Agriculture and one member of the State Corn Growers Association, none of whom shall be offering corn, shall select from all the ears sent the best type. The corn not selected will be put in the Agriculture Museum with the name of the grower or will be returned to him postpaid as he may prefer.

Remember, corn may be of the present or any previous crop, so long as it is sound and free from vermin, may be of any color or variety or kind, so long as it is a high class ear. An illustrated pamphlet describing a perfect ear of corn, which would be very helpful in making this selection, may be had free of charge by writing to the Agriculture College.

Who is to have the honor of contributing the most perfect ear of corn in Missouri?

Hadley Again Shown Up.

In a recent speech at Jackson, Mr. Cowherd made the charge that the Anheuser-Busch Brewing Association made a contribution of $12,500 to the Mo. Republican campaign fund in 1904.

Mr. Cowherd also said that this matter had been investigated by a committee of the Mo. senate and proven to be true. He asserted that this contribution violated the laws of Missouri that this violation had been brought to the attention of Mr. Hadley, the attorney-general, but that the latter had refused to prosecute the Anheuser-Busch Brewing Association.

A few days later, in a speech at Poplar Bluff, Mr. Hadley attempted to reply to Mr. Cowherd's charge and asserted that the $12,500 contribution had been made by Mr. Adolphus Busch and not by the brewery corporation. Unfortunately for Mr. Hadley, the sworn testimony of Mr. Busch, given before the senate investigating committee in 1905, is a matter of record. His testimony, printed in the Republic, October 1st, shows that Mr. Cowherd's charge is true and that Mr. Hadley's denial is untrue.

The record, therefore, shows that Mr. Hadley was the beneficiary, in 1904, of the contribution thus made by the Anheuser-Busch Brewing Association to the Republican state campaign fund.

In the present campaign, Mr. Hadley's St. Louis campaign manager is Mr. Otto Stifel, the head of another big brewery association, and the voters of Missouri are well informed as to that fact.

CURE

Was there ever such a rank farce and bit of unmitigated gall as the claims of General Hadley that he owes his nomination to the people of Missouri alone?

Interpreted in the sense of the meaning which he would like to convey the statement is absurd.

Hadley was not chosen by the people, but as Cowherd states, appointed by a clique of political bosses who met in Jefferson City in the dead hours of the night. Nor did they stop with the selection of Hadley as the nominee for governor; they went right on down the line and made up a slate which they forced the remainder of the party to swallow whole. If there were any objections the objectors were promptly driven from public life.

North T. Gentry dared to protest and announced his intention to run for the office of attorney-general even though Fulkerson was the machine man. Mr. Gentry who was then one of Mr. Hadley's assistants was very quickly discharged.—Cass County Democrat.

We are willing to give the "devil his dues." Hearst is knocking barnacles off both parties.

Haskell may be innocent, but his language indicates that he was out of place. Foraker confessed but says there are other more guilty; Col. Dupont, chief of the republican speaking bureau has resigned on account of exposure to white light, and still the mud-slinging goes on.—Slater Rustler.
